FARMERS VISIT IN WASHINGTON

HEAR PLEDGES FOR FARM PROGRAM

Farm delegates from Milam County who went to Washington to thank the Roosevelt administration for the farm subsidy have returned to Cameron and report a successful and enjoyable contact with the nation's capital.

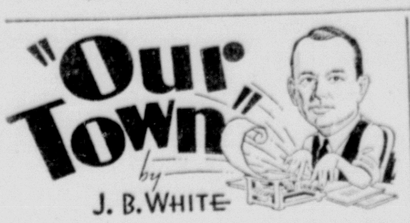

When the delegates went to Washington they went to Constitution Hall where 5000 farmers from 15 states were addressed by Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the farmers met again at the hall and were addressed by Chester A. Davis, agricultural administrator.

Speakers from Texas, Alabama, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Georgia and North Carolina made talks expressing appreciation and thanks for what the administration has done for farming and requesting that the farmers tariff be continued or remove the industrial tariff thereby placing farm products on a parity with industry.

At five o'clock in the afternoon the delegates went to the White House lawn to hear President Roosevelt. The President, according to delegates, has the farm program at heart and wants agriculture placed on a par with other industries.

"The Texas delegation gave a banquet at the Mayflower Hotel and we had as our guests Secretary Wallace, C. A. Cobb, cotton administrator, Senators Sheppard and Connoly and the the Texas Congressmen. Most all

May is a significant month in history. Tempermentally it is neither spring or summer, but the neutral that stands between the first bursting bud and the torrid days of June. Summer begins on June 21st and that is flag day. The battle of Bunker Hill was fought on June 17th and printing was discovered in 1440. Also it is well to remember that on June 26, 1917 the first contingent of American troops landed on the soil of France for the World War. On June 19, 1812 war with England was proclaimed and in 1919 the first non-stop trans-Atlantic flight was achieved. Jefferson Davis was born on June 3, 1808 and that day is national Confederate day in Louisiana. Don't forget that June 16th is Father's Day.

So much for June. Let's look at May. On Wednesday, May 1 Admiral Dewey achieved one of the greatest naval victories in history at Manila Bay. That was in 1898. With this battle the end of the Spanish-American war came by which we inherited the Phillipines and got a mandate over Cuba. Both have become troublesome problems in these latter years.

Cuba had been under Spanish dominion since 1512. The Cuban Isles were discovered by Columbus in 1492. He found the Island inhabited by mild, inoffensive tribes of Indians who were ruled by chiefs and believed in God and future life. One wonders in the view of subsequent events if the natives might not have been better off undisturbed. Cuba was settled by the Spaniards beginning in 1512. And thereby hangs a tale, and one of the most shameful chapters in history was written.

From that original 300 who settled on the northeast coast of the Island grew a despotic social system that eventually exterminated the native Indians. The inoffensive native was pliable and soon became a slave in tilling the soil and the colonists established slavery. When the natives who first saw the approach of the Spanish tyrants had been almost exterminated, negroes were brought in to fill their places and thus a traffic was begun that was not suppressed until 1845. It was the oppression of Spanish dominion over the Island that led the United States to free Cuba.

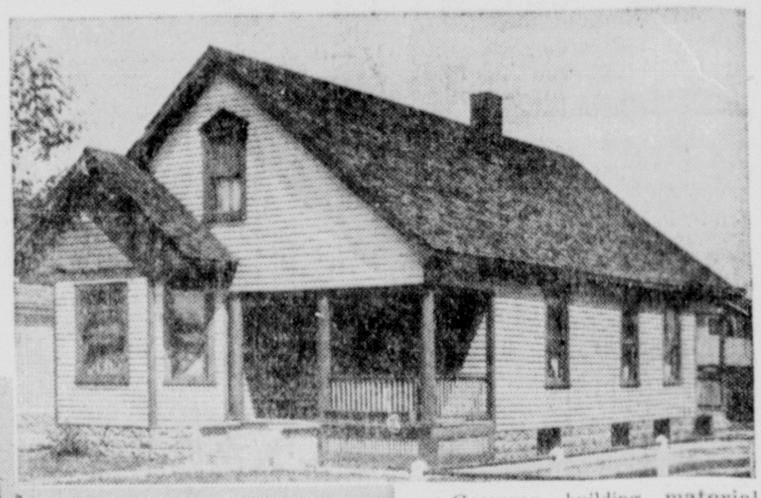

Much of the history of the Phillipine Islands is obscure in antiquity. Their authentic history begins with their discovery by Magellan in his famous voyage. The Islands then were sparsely settled by little blacks. The archipelago was discovered by Magellan in 1521. Several unsuccessful attempts were made by Spain to conquer and colonize the Islands and it requlred the then dominant Spanish empire 44 years to accomplish this task. In 1565 a proud Spanish fleet under Legaspi steamed in and took possession of Cubu.

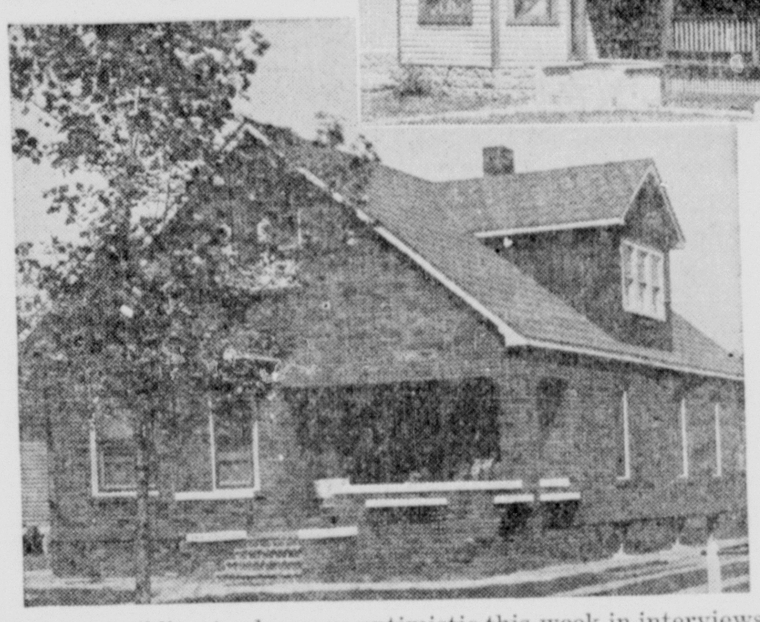

In 1570 Manila was captured and thus ended the reign of the primitive people who owend this picturesque country. Three hundred and twenty-eight years later an American fleet under Admiral Dewey steamed into Manila Bay and there achieved a victory that stunned the then three great naval powers of the world, England, Germany and Spain. Lying off the battle waters were men of war from Germany and England. It was during the period of observation that the now famous "Der Tag" toast was drunk by German officers aboard their flag ship, meaning the day when the imperial German fleet would attack England. The day come but was not as the Germans expected. Their grand fleet was later to be defeated and then towed out and sunk in the waters of the North Atlantic.

Cameron Building Trades Report Brisk Upturn in Sales Under Housing Act

These photos show typical construction work being done in Cameron under the Housing Act. The building trades report brisk business with an increase in volume and much prospective development Funds now available are expected to bring about a revival of building.

Cameron building material dealers and contractors have found response to the Housing Act active in Cameron with the result that considerable progress has been made. Many repair and renovation jobs have been taken and a number of new homes have been contracted for. Others are in prospect. Persons who own building sites are now in position to build homes. The possibilities of the Housing Act are said to be extensive and a real building boom, long delayed by the depression, is expected here.

Cameron building trades were optimistic this week in interviews given for publication in the Herald to show the progress made under the Housing Act which makes possible building and repairs long delayed by the depression.

Rapid gains in building and material sales are reported from all sources. Availability of money for building through loan companies together with easy payment schedules were certain to bring back normal traffic in building material, say local dealers. Already many units are under construction.

Ownership of a building site is sufficient guarantee under normal circumstances of a loan. It is now possible to build new homes, repair old ones, in city or rural section, or make improvements on business property.

A survey was made this week by the Herald for its readers shows that sales among material dealers here increased around 30 per cent over sales at this time last year.

Local dealers express the view that stimulation has been given building by the Federal Housing Act that makes available ready capital for home and improvement investments. A large per cent of the building now in progress represents new homes and home improvements. Not a small part of this material has gone into rural homes.

Inquiries made to material dealers and to loan sources indicate a wide spread of interest. Normal building long held in abeyance by the depression, now seems assured of returning to its former level.

Definite recovery is believed to have resulted for the building trades in Cameron if present indications mature into a program of actual expenditure.

FLOOD TOLL IS LIGHT

Flood damage in Milam county was light despite early indications, it was expressed here Wednesday. Little River flood stage since Saturday was getting back in banks Wednesday after it had spilled flood waters over growing crops along its course reaching the highest stage since 1921.

It was estimated that a substantial part of the crop acreage would be saved from replanting. The heaviest toll was from corn fields in the bottom. In the uplands where rain was heavy some farmers report loss of terraces.

The sun was shining Tuesday and the farmers were counting the ben-

Wallace Beery Tops Bill For Week In "West Point of The Air" At Cameron

Wallace Beery, who in the past three years has been established at the pinnacle of box-office popularity, is to be seen in the most striking dramatic role of his career in "West Point of the Air," story of the United States Army Air Corps to be shown at the Cameron Theatre Sunday and Monday, May 26 and 27.

Beery's sensational success in "The Champ" was followed by "Dinner at Eight," "Bugsy Annie," "Viva Villa!" for which he won the International award for acting from Italy, and recently "Treasure Island," Robert Louis Stevenson's immortal classic. Each picture established him more firmly as one of the world's favorite character stars.

The Romantic Leads

In "West Point of the Air" the romantic supporting cast includes Maureen O'Sullivan as the youthful romantic lead; Robert Young, as Beery's son; Lewis Stone, James Gleason, Rosalind Russell, Russell Hardie, Henry Wadsworth, Robert Taylor, Robert Livingston and Frank Conroy.

At famous Randolph Field, Texas, the $10,000,000 Army aviation school Beery's son, played by Robert Young finds romance with Miss O'Sullivan the General's daughter. She offers encouragement to the cadet while he goes through rigors of tests, flying instruction, solo flights, and, finally spectacular aerial maneuvers and training reviews with hundreds of planes.

Hundreds of Thrills

Thrills never before photographed for an air picture to be seen in the film include "power dives" from an elevation of ten thousand feet to the ground, a group parachute jump from one hundred planes in the air at once, peace time bombing maneuvers of training planes over 2000 ground troops and other thrilling scenes.

Nearly two years were required for technical research and story preparation by Lieutenant Commander Frank Wead and Arthur J. Beckhard, who adapted the photoplay from an original story by James K. McGuinness and John Monk Saunders. Richard Rosson directed.

A new reader in Cameron beginning on June 1 is Louis McDonald, independent oil and gas dealer here. Mr McDonald likes the Herald because of its fairness and has selected it to read in the coming year. He operates a number of trucks in addition to his gasoline business. The publishers appreciate Mr. McDonald's selection of the Herald and trust he may find many things of interest in these columns in the coming year.

The Herald goes forward this week to the address of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hoover at Mercedes. Mr. Hoover, agent here for a number of years for Gulf Refining Company, has been transferred to Mercedes with promotion and they will make their home in the Valley. Mrs. Hoover was prominent in Cameron for her social work notably the Parent-Teacher Association. Mr. Hoover is a prominent Legion member and was at one time President of the Chamber of Commerce. They will find many things of interest each week in the Herald about their old home town and former friends here wish for them every success.

John C. Young for the past eleven years manager of the Texas Power & Light Company in Cameron, has been transferred to Cleburne and with him will go the Cameron Herald. Mr. Young instructed that the old journal be mailed to his address there so that he can keep in touch with Cameron and his host of friends here. Mr. and Mrs. Young have been prominent in social and civic activities here and will be missed by many friends who wish for them success in their new home in Cleburne.

George Blanset of Yarrellton was in Cameron on business Monday and while here instructed the Herald to be mailed to his son, M. F. Blanset at McCamey, Texas. Mr. Blanset reports plenty of rainfall in his section. He has three sons with the Humble Oil & Refining Company. M. F. Blanset of McCamey is with the production division of the company. J. M. Blansett is at Corpus Christi and is assistant superintendent with a territory of 25 counties. Another son, W. L. Blanset is located at Goose Creek and is also assistant superintendent in the sales division there. Mr. Blanset, a reader of the Herald, wants his sons to be well posted on the happenings in the old home county and has selected the Herald to carry to them each week the news here.

Ben Lindeman of Ben Arnold called at the offices of the publisher Monday and extended the reading date on his Herald for another year. Mr. Lindeman has been a reader for several years. He likes the Herald and wants it mailed to his home each week. Discussing the recent rain he said that although much moisture had fallen in this locality to appreciable damage had been done. On the other hand the rains have been worth many thousands to Milam county farmers.

IN SHORT———.

The British Amateur golf championship matches began May 20, with W. Lawson Little, America's foremost present day amateur, defending his crown. Little, after a new record in becoming the first American to win the British tourney twice in succession, is said to have been at the peak of his game just prior to the matches, and a victory for him would be of little surprise to the golf experts on this side of the Atlantic and according to present plans, Little will remain abroad following the tourney to compete in the British open, thereby forging the possibility of taking part in the American open, which starts at Oakmont June 6.

The American Davis Cup tennis team, after victories over the cup representatives of China and Mexico, is ready for its trip abroad to meet the European zone finalists for the right to play England, present holder of the trophy. In view of the departure of George Lott and Lester Stoefen from amateur ranks, the Americans will land abroad the underdogs for the first time in many years. The hopes of the Americans are centered around Wilmen Allison, most experienced singles player on the squad, and Sidney B. Wood, Jr., second only to Allison as the ranking player of the nation. The doubles, for the past several years the pride of the Americans, will be taken care of either by Gene Mako and Donald Budge, youthful California stars, or Allison and John Van Ryn, comprising a veteran combination of former competition.

Tony Canzoneri took the measure of Lou Ambers on May 10 to win the world's lightweight crown. Experience and boxing skill, rather than youth and physical advantages tol in the the fight as Canzoneri, eight years older than the ambitious Ambers, floored the latter three times in the fifteen rounder. By regaining the title he formerly held ,Tony disproved the old saying that "they don't come back." The champ's next fight will be a non title bout with Frankie Klick in Washington June 10.

Indications pointing to a gate of $200,000 have greatly lightened the heart of promoter Mike Jacobs, who is putting on the Ross-McLarnin bout Tuesday night, May 28. McLarnin's welterweight title will be at stake, though last minute odds, barring accident, should favor the champ. Ross, however, is a heady boxer of no little ability and he may come through with a decision in his favor. Each has defeated the other in two previous battles, and the coming bout will be the rubber or grudge match.

Omaha, William Woodward's chestnut son of Gallant Fox, continued his winning ways by running away with the Preakness at Pimlico just a week after his Kentucky Derby victory. The win sealed Omaha's right to be listed among the turf's best.

Recent major league trades saw Carl Fisher, southpaw twirler, leave the ranks of the Tigers to join the fast stepping White Sox, and Phil-Collins, also a moundsman, switch his affiliations from the Phillies to the Cards. Fisher has been an in-and-out starter since the first of the season in the majors, when he starred with the Seators. He is expected to become a valuable relief hurler for the Sox. Collins has been one of the Phils' mound mainstays for the past four years, and his advent into the pitching staff of Dean, Hallahan, Walker, and Dean is expected to prove of great help to Manager Frisch in his pitching assignments. Collins' place on the Phillies may be filled by Buckey Walters, converted substitute in field, whose work on the mound though spasmodic, has been pleasing to Manager Wilson.

Only two clubs in the American League have been playing ball in manner predicted before the opening day. Cleveland is upholding the faith of Walter Johnson and the majority of the scribes by consistently holding on to either the first or second rung of the ladder. St. Louis is rated by many to be either a seventh o eighth place club, has been down around those spots since the start of the season. The surprise team is the Chicago aggregation, which has been giving the Indians a hot fight for leadership honors since the first week of the campaign. The Sox are getting excellent pitching from veterans Sam Jones and Ted Lyons and rookie John Whitehead. The hitting of Jack Hayes, Zeke Bonura, George Washington, and Ripper Radcliff has surprised all hands, and is the main factor in the team's early drive. Only Bonura, of the four, was expected to show much power at the plate in the early going.

Stories involving the winter trade of Pat Malone from the Cards to the Yanks appear to have leaked out, in spite of strict denials by National League club officials. it appears that the Yankees, badly in need of a pitcher for the present pennant drive, agreed to let Babe Ruth go to the senior circuit only after finding somewhere the looked for hurler. Realizing that Ruth would be a wonderful box office attraction throughout the league, so the story goes, the club owners agreed to give the Yanks their hurler in return for the increased attendance that would surely follow Ruth at every park. Malone was selected by the Yanks, waived on, and the deal was completed with Ruth shifting to the Braves. Though the club owners claim no part in any such "gentlemen's agreement," the story seems more than possible, and may explain the surprise of several senior circuit managers when notified that such a valuable twirler had been waived right on by their own pitching staffs and out of the league.

Though Bill Knickerbocker, star shortstop of the Indians, has sufficiently recovered from appendicitis operation to permit his return to the line-up, Manager Johnson plans to use sensational Roy Hughes, half of the rookie Hughes-Berger combination, at the post as long as the youngsters provide such sparkle around the keystone sack. . . . Ernie Lombardi, Cincinnati's first string catcher, set some kind of a record recently in Philadelphia when he cracked four successive doubles in four successive innings off four different Philly pitchers. . . . even years ago Tom Zachery was considered through as a pitcher. Since then he has pitched a perfect season—twelve victories and no defeats while with the Yanks—and is still going great guns with Brooklyn. . . . With Travis Jackson out with a cracked thumb, Hughie Critz returns to the Giant fold as a regular . . . Mark Koenig, Critz's sub at second, has been switched to third to fill Jackson's spot . . . The youngest regular in the majors is Phil Cavaretta, Cub's forst sacker. . . . Manager Charlie Grimm has turned his own first basing job over to Phil, placing himself on the voluntarily retired list.

Joyce Weatherred, British women's golf ace, is to open a professional tour in America with a match at the Women's National Golf and Tennis Club, Glen Head, Long Island, on May 30. . . . She will have as her partner the famed Bobby Jones, with Mrs. Glenna Collett and Gene Sarazen as opponents. . . . Miss Stella Walsh was clocked recently as running the 60 yard dash in 6.9 seconds . . . If the time is recognized by the N. A. A.U. it will shatter the former record of 7.4 seconds made by Helen Finkley in Chicago six years ago . . . Jesse Owens, Cleveland's dash man, runs the century dash from a flying start in 8 2-5 seconds, which is a full second faster than anyone has traversed the distance from a standing start. . . . Pittsburgh's Oakmont Golf Club, the scene of this year's National Open, is one of the toughest courses in the country. . . . The winner will know he has been through a real series of traps and other hazards. . . Gene Sarazen, Henry Picard, and Paul Runyan loom as the ones to beat for the title. . Olin Dutra, the defending champ, is not to be overlooked. . . Max Baer's telephone bill for each of the last three months has hit around $1,000. . . . His manager, Ancil Hoffman, gives a significant reason—"Girls." . . . And for a remedy—Baer's living quarters six miles from town while training for the Barddock fight at Ashbury Park, N. Y. . . . Incidently, Baer's recent injury received from the discharge of a blank cartridge, which smacks of the typical Baer publicity, is not expected to retard his training in any way. . . . The America Cup sloop Yankee is being rigged in England for her trials preparatory to entering the British races at Harwich on June 1.

COMETS HIT STRIDE IN THREE GAME WIN

The XXX Pearl Comets won three games this week, winning both games of a double header from the Ben Arnold Storks Monday by a score of 15 to 0 in the first game and 5 to 2 the second game. On Tuesday the Comets defeated the strong Rogers Eagles in their own nest at Rogers 7 to 6.

Big Bill Heitman pitched the Storks a shut out in the first game Monday allowing the boys only 6 hits while the Comets grabbed off 15 hits netting 15 runs off Boecker and Tubbs.

In the second game Robinson held the Comets to five runs and nine hits, while Clarence Anderson, a newcomer, made his debut with the Comets by holding the Storks to three runs and 8 scattered hits.

Tuesday afternoon the XXX Pearl boys journeyed to Rogers to bring home the bacon in the form of a 7 to 6 victory. The Rogers boys previously split a double header with the Comets. Dub Copeland who stood the Comets on their heads with his curve ball pitching earlier in the season, ceased to be puzzling and was thumped for 14 solid base hits. With Thompson, McLerran, Ondrej and Smith leading the attack. Kilpatrick was the star hitter for Rogers. Heinnie Schottle, the Cameron pitching ace, was touched rather freely for 11 hits, but was stingy in the pinches and with the aid of two double plays, managed to go the route.

Cliff Thompson, the Comet scorer announced the following batting averages for the Comets through 12 cup race games: Ondrej, 456; Hobson, 400; Wiley, 385; Walker, 378; Heitman, 333; Williams, 311; Young, 286; Worcester, 286; Thompson, 237; Smith, 214; Schottle, 203; McLerran, 200; Jackson 154; Jennees 131; Price 125; Anderson 222. Ondrej, Walker and Williams are the only Comet regulars batting over .300.

COMETS WILL PLAY TWO GAMES SUNDAY

The Cameron XXX Pearl Comets after winning three cup race games this week will try to add two more victories Sunday at the Lawless Green Field. The Comets will tackle the Cameron K. of C's at 2:45 p. m. and immediately after this game will take on the strong Granger K. D. team from Granger.

The Comets were only able to beat the K. C. team by a 7 to 5 score in the season's opener and Granger has won five out of seven games in the Temple Telegram cup race, so the Comets should be in for a very busy afternoon Sunday.

Manager Walker's boys played a classy brand of baseball in defeating Ben Arnold and Rogers this week and the Sunday games should be among the best of the season. Heinnie Schottle will toe the rubber against Granger with either Bill Heitman or Clarence Anderson facing the K. C. hurlers. The Comets have now won 7 and lost five in the Temple Telegram cup race and are gradually pulling up among the leaders after a slow start.

JOHN YOUNG TO CLEBURNE

John C. Young, 10 years manager for the Texas Power & Light Company in Cameron, has been transferred to the franchise at Cleburne, by John W. Carpenter, president of the Company who called the local manager to Dallas on Saturday and announced his transfer and promotion.

Mr. Young left Cameron Wednesday for Cleburne where he will remain for several days, return here for the week end to transact personal business.

The change in management came without previous indication and receipt of the news that he was being sent to another assignment with the company was received with genuine regret by the people of Cameron. Mr. Young has succeeeded to an extraordinary degree in the management of the Cameron franchise and Mr. Carpenter told him Saturday that he had won the promotion and he placed a high value on his service to the company.

Mr. Young has been manager here since the franchise was purchased from the Cameron Water, Power & Light Company, owned by the late C. W. Lawrence and T. S. Henderson. The service of the company has been expanded and from the original equipment Mr. Young saw adequate high lines brought into the city and later the construction of a vast power substation near Minerva to further serve this district. With the extension of the power lines Mr. Young was made dicstrict manager.

Mr. Young has made his citizenship worthwhile here. Nobody felt he was the representative of a big corporation, but that he was a citizen and neighbor. During the decade he lived in Cameron there are many marks of personal and civic service to the community. He served as President of the Lion's Club, had been a director of the Chamber of Commerce for 10 years; a member of the Country Club; took an active part in Boy Scout work and was vice president of the Heart O' Texas Council, and had been district chairman. He was a member of the Athletic Council and his activities always followed the lead of bigger and better things for Cameron. The city will miss his annual contribution to citizenship.

Mrs. Young will remain in Cameron until the close of the school year. She has made a large place in the hearts of many here. As an active member of the Methodist choir and other phases of the church life she has contributed much to the success of the body and having been socially prominent her duties led to many worthwhile civic achievements.

Joe Johnson of Caldwell has returned to his home after a visit here with his mother, Mrs. Alma Johnson and brother, Newell.

Addy Freeman was a visitor in Brenham last Thursday and attended the May Fete.

Mr. and Mrs. Tull Pope of Houston have returned to their home afte ra visit in this county.

In the party were Vernon M. Roberts, of the Cameron Mutual Insurance Association, C. E. Triggs, cotton merchant and Jim Mitcham of Buckholts, agent for the Great Southern Life Insurance Company.

Lake San Martin is situated about 90 miles inland from Laredo and was made by an irrigation dam that impounds the waters of three picturesque Mexican rivers. The lake, says Mr. Esslinger, is about thirty miles long and twenty miles wide and its waters have made possible a gigantic cotton growing project in nearby desert lands.

At the lake is a small village but good club accommodations for tourists. On their return the Cameron men stopped in San Antonio and there met some old time friends and enjoyed the historic atmosphere of the old city. All are praising the San Martin Lake as a vacation spot. Roads are fair with 40 miles of gravel and 40 miles of dirt road.

Washington News For Milam County Farmers

From Cameron Herald's Washington Bureau

TWO YEARS OF AAA.

MOVING TOWARD PARITY.

FARM INCOME GAINS.

FARMERS ASSEMBLE.

HEAR PRESIDENT.

The AAA, one of the first New Deal Agencies to be established in 1933, celebrated its second birthday last week and it might be well to review its accomplishments in the effort to secure "pre-war parity" between frices of goods the farmers sell and those they buy.

Almost everyone knows that when president Rooseelt entered the office, the index of farm prices, computed by the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics was 55—with 100 representing the pre war average. Wheat, cotton and corn and other farm commodities had dropped in price much further during the depression than manufactured goods, and farm purchasing power was practically paralized.

When the farmers' index number was 55, the same number for goods that he buys was 101. Now, about two years later, prices of goods the farmer sells stand at 111 but parity has not been achieved because prices of goods the farmer buys have moved upward to 128. According to statisticians, this represents eighty-seven per cent of parity compared with fifty-four per cent in the spring of 1933.

The remarkable improvement in farm buying power is a fact regardless of the cause. Difference of opinion naturally exists as to the effect of the AAA, the drought, devaluation of the dollar or natural rises from a panic level. However, it is worth pointing out that prior to 1933 both political parties were in favor of some control of production to balance supply with demand.

It is also worth pointing out that, in spite of the near approach to parity as a whole is not yet normal. The fact that curtailed production is necessary to maintain parity prices indicates a shortage of farm income that can be measured only by the size of their production.

Farm income from the sale of principal products, plus governmental benefit payments for the first quarter of 1935 show a gain of twelve per cent, over the same period in 1934 according to the Bureau, which points out that farmers in thirty-two states made gains while those in fifteen states received less. Indiana and surrounding states are credited with the largest increases and the heaviest decreases were noted in North Dakota, with reduced wheat marketings, and maine, where potato prices were off.

President Roosevelt last week spoke to nearly 5,000 farmers from 25 states from the south portico of the White House, and received applause and shouts from the crowd as he lashed "the high and mighty—with special axes to grind" who have been "lying about the kind of a farm program under which this nation is operating today."

The President drove home the lesson that the people of the cities suffer when the farmers lose purchasing power, insisting that "empty pocketbooks on the farm don't drive factory wheels in the city." He poked fun at the ignorance of a few leading citizens and the "crocodile tears shed by the professional mourners." He praised the "Farmers' March on Washington" as a good omen and reviewed briefly the crop adjustment plans for the major farm crops.

Earlier the farmers heard Secretary of Agricultue Wallace who was evidently tickled over their visit and told them to retain the controverted processing tax as long as industry retains the tariff. The audience of farmers was as noisy as a group of collegians and ready to cheer the AAA, the President and the Secretary.

Chester C. Davis told the mass meeting it was "a demonstration of a united agriculture without a parallel in the history of the United States" and emphasized that the farmers "can and will write the agricultural policy of America."

Indicative of the sentiment of the meeting was the statement of W. H. Robertson of Alabama, who declared "We left the plow handles to come here and we are paying our own way. We are not pawns of high-powered lobbyists."

Leonard Blaylock Invited To Play On Dallas Grid

Leonard Blaylock, center on the 1934 Yoemen Team, and all district selection, has been invited to play in Dallas at the close of the coaching season there in early August.

Only 36 boys from Texas high schools are chosen to enter these games, few coming from Class B Schools. This honor comes as a well deserved recognition to Leonard who was coached in his senior year by Woods, Yoemen boss. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Blaylock of Cameron and will graduate from Yoe High next week. His weight is 175 and critics say that he is the best center to play on the maroon field. He was a tower of strength to the 1934 team.

The rivals in the Dallas games will be coached by Cox of Tulane and Wyman of Princeton.

Rains Mud On the W. M. Senkel Farm Near Ben Arnold

W. M. Senkel of Ben Arnold has been a resident of Texas for 53 years and recently witnessed a "mud rain" for the first time.

This strange phenomena occurred two weeks ago on his farm. Early in the morning he saw the sky overcast by a dust storm. Presently it began to rain drops of mud. A cistern near his home had been filled by previous rains and he turned the drain pipe from the room into some tubs and they were filled with mud and water.

Mr. Senkel was a Cameron visitor Saturday and told this story to the Herald editor. In other sections of the United States mud rains were reported. This is the first to be reported here.

Farmers

of the important committees in the house have Texas congressmen as chairmen. Mr. Lucas, farmer from Brownwood was toastmaster and he was the right man in the right place. This was a great meeting and a number of farmers expressed their appreciation and thanks for the new deal that has helped many save their farms, pay their taxes, save our merchants and banks and other business that depends on farm buying power," says the report made by George T. Graves, a delegate.

Senator Sheppard and Senator Connoly assured the farmers they were in complete accord on the program. Congressmen also made talks assuring the farmers they were 100 per cent behind the farm program. Honorable Marvin Jones, Chairman of the committee on Agriculture in an address assured the farmers he is co-operating with the administration to the fullest extent. He is a hard worker and considered one of the ablest nen in Congress.

C. C. Cobb, cotton administrator, said it was gratifying to see so many farmers from the states and he appreciates the co-operation given by the administration. He feels the processing tax is just and that farm products are entitled t othe same consideration as industry.

The Milam county group examined the cotton contract record in Washington and was shown through the entire department of the AAA, saw the handling of contracts throughout most of which is done by machinery, and any contract can be located in from 5 to 10 minutes.

The cotton committee from Milam county visited the cotton office and went over delayed contracts from this county. The officials of the department reported these contracts would be released at once.

Delegates from Milam county were George Banzhaf, county agent; Geo. T. Graves, D. K. Hall, J. C. Freeman, J. D. Baskin, A. J. Smith, H. H. Camp and Wright Ellison.

Mother's Day occured on May 12 and on May 21, 1927 a young mail pilot, then unknown, lifted the Spirit of St. Louis from the run way and disappeared over the Atlantic. Col. Charles Lindbergh flew from New York to Paris in the first solo flight ever made by man and in doing so conquored space and time, the dream of the race. That was an epochal event. The Lone Eagle, like a homing pigeon, burst down out of the Paris sky to electrify millions of Frenchmen and to write his name forever among the gigantic deeds of men.

On May 26, 1865 the American Civil war was ended when Grant met Gen. Lee at Appamatox court house and exchanged terms of surrender. Four years of bitter war was over and peace settled again on the American continent.

Thursday May 30 is Decoration or Memorial Day, a legal holiday set apart in every state in the American Union except Texas and Idaho, for the purpose of commemorating the soldiers who fell in the Civil War and decorating their graves. Since the World War it has become also Poppy Day when poppies made by wounded veterans are sold for their benefit. In a number of Southern States the day is known as Confederate Memorial Day and is so observed.

Owen P. White is at it again. Following his stir up of the little senate at Austin over the hot oil racket in Texas, he went into the Big Bend country and reports an entire county owned and controlled by one man. And, whats more, the great highway from Canada to Mexico has been stopped because the "no trespassing" sign has been hung out by John G. Kennedy. Stopped when sent to Kennedy county to see why the road had been held up, White, an associate editor of Collier's magazine, hired an air plane and flew over Mr. Kennedy's ranch.

Larger than the state of Rhode Island, it is owned by one man says the magazine. Its 1335 square miles are completely surrounded by barbed wire, enclosing a large section of the finest cow country in the world. The concrete highway ends in the mesquite thicket on the east side and takes up again on the west side but there is no connecting length across Kennedy county.

From his plane flying over this county Mr. White wrote these startling and interesting observations:

"From above you can get a good look at Kenedy County with its little personally owned town of Sarita, its Palace, its scores of windmills, its numberless water holes with hundreds of cows running to them, its stock pens, its stretch of desert down through its center, its interminable acres of grass pasture, and its fifty miles of shore line which is practically fifty miles of beautiful sandy beach.

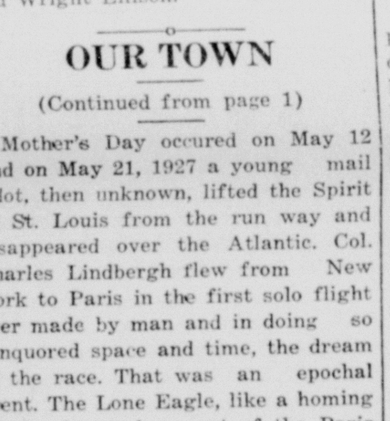

"This ranch teems with life. Fat, sleek cattle and good looking horses are everywhere. Here one sees a bunch being loaded into a loading pen for shipment. Twenty miles away a few cowboys are branding calves. Herds of deer graze out in the open, and several droves of wild boars are fattening themselves contentedly on acorns.

"No country could possibly need a public road as badly as Kennedy does, because it hasn't an inch in it, but what of it? It's cattle against humans; the cattle are winning and apparently there isn't much that the humans can do about it.

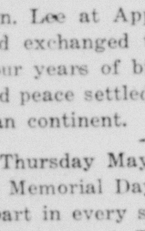

"Kennedy county has never issued a bond; it doesn't owe anybody a dime; it hasn't a hungry person or an unemployed man; it has never asked for relief; it has no jail; and the court house was obviously built for ornamental purposes and paid for in cash 24 years ago."

Among those to attend the singing convention at Ben Arnold were Mrs. Tom Denson and Miss Schiller, Judge and Mrs. Jeff T. Kemp, Mrs. Ben Nabours and Miss Aycock.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

May 19, 1935.

It seems that most people in Cameron have the idea that the city health officer, Dr. A. S. Epperson is paid by the City to treat the indigent, sick or injured people of the city, which is not the case—his duties are the prevention of infectious and contagious diseases by quarantine and looking after sanitary conditions.

INTRODUCING New Herlad READERS

Hundreds Subscribe in Big Trend to Pioneer Journal

One of the pioneer readers of the Herald is Judge Jeff T. Kemp and he has just entered his renewal for another year. Judge Kemp has been a reader of the Herald for nearly a half century. He was born and reared in Milam county and knows more of the history of this section perhaps than any other citizen. The publishers are glad to have him numbered again among the many who have advanced their reading date and his continued support is appreciated. When he became a reader of the Herald this newspaper was printed each week with type set by hand from cases. He says the Herald has always been a good newspaper and has kept step with the progress of the county. Judge Kemp comes from a family of pioneer Texas people and in all his beliefs and traditions he is thoroughly identified with the South. Among his best contributions in service has been aid to Confederate veterans and their widows. Among his prized collections is a letter written by Sam Houston to Major Bryant at Bryant Station during a threatened insurrection of Indians quartered there.

D. D. Driscoll of Burlington has recently become a reader of the Herald and is among the many to be introduced into the great family of readers. Mr. Driscoll is a young and successful farmer in the Burlington community and the publishers are glad to have his name added to the reader list in that section. Mr. Driscoll as a native citizen of Milam county is vitally interested in the progress of the county and will find many things of interest in the Herald.

W. E. Kuehl of Cameron is among the many new readers who have selected the Herald to read in 1935. Mr. Kuehl has been engaged in the barber business here for several years but now devotes his time to raising strawberries and circulating a number of daily newspapers. The publishers are glad to have his name added to the growing list in Cameron.

A. H. Roberts, young business man in Cameron, is a new reader of the Herald and is among the many the publishers are glad to introduce this week. Mr. Roberts, we trust, may find many things of interest in the Herald this year.

E. A. Cauthen of Maysfield was a business visitor in Cameron last week and while here extended the reading date on the Herald to 1936. Mr. Cauthen has been a reader for a number of years and enjoys the columns of this old newspaper and will appreciate the new service being given this week in getting the Herald out early on Thursday. The paper will reach Cameron readers Thursday afternoon and the rural communities on Friday morning.

A new reader to the list this week on Route 1 out of Cameron is P. P. Horlica who received his first copy of the Herald last week. Mr. Horlica has been a resident of this county for many years and his selection of the Herald to read is greatly appreciated by the publishers. He will find many things of interest including the farm column of comment from the Washington Bureau of the Herald.

The name of Miss Elizabeth Jane Pickens of Rockdale has recently been added to the reader list in that city and the publishers are glad to introduce her as a new Herald reader. Miss Pickens received her first copy of the Herald two weeks ago.

E. D. Kelso, farmer in the Maysfield community, has been a reader of the Herald for a number of years and is among the many old readers to renew again this year. Mr. Kelso owns a fine farm a short distance from Maysfield and has an ideal home. The publishers appreciate his continued reader support.

Among the many new readers in Cameron is Mrs. Ike Ledbetter who recently became a subscriber to the Herald. The publishers are proud to announce her selection of this old newspaper and trust that she will find many things of interest in these columns in 1935 and 1936.

Jim Mitcham of Buckholts is among the many new readers of the Herald to be introduced this week. Mr. Mitcham received his first copy last week and the publishers are happy to number him among the many in the Buckholts section who have selected this old newspaper to bring them the news of the county. Mr. Mitcham is an agent for the Great Southern Life Insurance Company and has made a success of the agency, producing a large volume of business for the company. He has many friends in Cameron who are always glad to welcome him to the friendly city. Recently Mr. Mitcham enjoyed a vacation trip to Mexico in company with friends to fish for a few days.

Miss Albina Janicek has returned to her home here after a successful term of teaching in South Texas. She has renewed her subscription to the Herald for 16 months and will have it mailed to her address next fall when she begins her term of school. Miss Janicek has been a reader for many years and the publishers are glad to have her contineud reader support.

John Zalesky, Cameron merchant, is among the many old readers of the Herald to advance their reading dates for another year. Mr. Zalesky has been in business here for several years and recently moved his dry goods store to the building formerly occupied by the Pace-Marshall Drug Store. Mr. Zalesky looks for good business this fall.

Miss Ruth Kemp in Washington reads the Herald each week sent to her address in the Capital by her father, Judge Jeff T. Kemp in Cameron. She has been in the Veteran's Bureau there for several years and enjoys life in Washington as well as the Herald that brings to her each week the news of the old home town and county.

Dave Hemenas who lives on his suburban acreage home west of the city is among the many old readers to advance their date this week. Mr. Hemenas has a large blackberry plot on his farm, producing in large quantities a very delicious berry now found on sale at grocery stores. He is advertising the farm for sale, an ideal home with all improvements. The publishers appreciate his continued reader support.

A. L. Krenek who gets his mail on Star Route out of Cameron, was in the city Saturday and advanced the date on his paper until 1936. Mr. Krenek is quite a weather prophet. He predicted the overflow a few weeks ago when he visited the offices of the publisher. At the time it was very dry and rain was badly needed. The rains came and the river left its banks on the exact date named by Mr. Krenek. Besides being a good weather prophet he is a good farmer as well and the publishers are glad to have his continued reader support.

Mrs. Nora Hailes who lives on Route 1 out of Buckholts, was in Cameron Saturday and while here called at the offices of the Herald to advance the reading date on her paper to 1937. Mrs. Hailes appreciates the Herald and has taken advantage of the rate now on until June 1 to advance her subscription. The publishers are glad to number her among the many who will read the Herald in the Corinth section for the next two years.

Reader support comes this week from John B. Henderson, president of the Chamber of Commerce who is among the many who have advanced the reading date of the Herald. Mr. Henderson is manager and part owner of the Milam County Abstract Company, one of the three pioneer business enterprises in Cameron. The others are The Cameron Herald and the B. I. Arnold Insurance Agency, now owned by Mrs. Mamie Hefley and Stanton Dossett. Mr. Henderson is busy at this time making plans for the fair this fall.

E. C. Cole, agent for the Southern Pacific Lines in Cameron, is among the many old readers who have advanced the date on their Herald to 1936. Mr. Cole appreciates the big Herald that comes to his address each week and believes it is the best weekly newspaper in Texas. He served as president of the Chamber of Commerce and has just been elected President of the Southern Pacific Service Club.

Will Harris of Cameron Route 1 is the newest reader in that section, his name having been added to the list Saturday while he was a business visitor in the city. Mr. Harris farms some fine land on the Sam Law farm near the Holtzclaw bridge. He says that only a portion of his acreage is subject to overflow and that on the hill he has many vegetables growing and is able to live much at home. Mr. Harris has the thanks of the publishers for his selection of the Herald this year. He will find many things of interest in these columns.

Sunday School Lesson

by HENRY-RADCLIFFE

OUR DAY OF WORSHIP

International Sunday School Lesson for June 2, 1935

GOLDEN TEXT: "God is a Spirit: And they that worship him must worship in spirit and truth."—John 4:24.

(Lesson Text: Psalm 100; John 4:20-24; Col. 3:15-17)

The act of creation in Genesis tells how God created the earth, the heavens and man in six days and "on the seventh day God ended his work . . . and rested . . . God blessed the seventh day and sanctified it." Thus from the earliest times we find a day given apart to rest, contemplative worship and thankfulness.

The number "seven" is unusual in the hebrew calendar, as pointed out by G. D. Boardman: "Seven was to be the aggregate number of the Holy Convocations of the Hebrew year (Lev. 23); the seventh day was to be the Sabbath day; the seventh week after Passover the Sabbath week; the seventh month the Sabbath month; the seventh year the Sabbath year; the seven times seventh year the great Sabbath year of the Sabbath years; namely the year of Jubilee; seven weeks were appointed as the interval between Penticost and the Passover; seven days as the length of feasts of the Passover and Tabernacles and the candlestick was to be seven branched; seven days were appointed for ceremonial lustration, and for the interval between birth and circumcision; seven was the number in compacts, in treaties of peace, in marriage settlements; seven is solemnly embalmed in the Hebrew term for oath, the term signifying 'to swear' literally meaning 'to do seven times.'"

The Fourth Commandments is the longest of the ten and the only one which begins with "remember." There are three parts. First a command to work. "Six days shall thou labor and do all thy work." Laziness is prohibited and the man who lives a useless life violates this commandment. Second, we are told to rest. "Our Sabbath is not meant to be a day of mere inactivity, of indolence," says Cleland B. McAfee. "It is a day of rest from the employments and recreations that occupy our strength and time on other days; it is the divinely appointed break in the grind of life. The Sabbath is meant to change our routine, to break into it and give us a new angle of vision upon our lives. We do not get it by doing nothing. We get it by resting and by bringing other lines of activity into play."

Third, we should worship. "It is a Sabbath unto the Lord your God," says Cleland B. McAfee. "It is a day intended to serve our spiritual lives, not our physical lives principally or only. The great appeal of the day is not to our brute side. It is to that side whereon we are allied to God. The man who leaves God out and does not make it a holy day has not observed God's Sabbath, whatever he has done or left undone. Six days of the cry of the world in our ears! One day of the cry of heaven and the eternal life! And yet how strangely it is used!"

"'Worship is the attitude of the life which takes the low place of absolute reverence in the presence of that which is higher," says G. Campbell Morgan. "On the part of man, it is the recognition of divine sufficiency, the recognition of his absolute dependence upon the divine sufficiency, the confession that all he needs in his own life he finds in the life of God. The attitude of worship is the attitude of a subject bent before the king, of a child yielding all its love to its father, of the sheep that follows the leading of the shepherd, and is content in all the pasturage which He appoints."

"We are not poorer, but richer because we have, through many ages rested from our labors one day in seven," says Lord Macaulay. "That day is lost. While industry is suspeded, while the plow lies in the furlow, while the exchange is silent, while no smoke ascends from the factory, a process is going on quite as important to the wealth of the nations as any process which is performed on more busy days. Man, the machine of machines, is repairing and winding up, so that he returns to his labors on the Monday with clear intellect, with livelier spirits, with renewed corporeal vigor."

Samuel Johnson, according to his Biographer Boswell, wrote out this plan for Sabbath."

"Having lived not without an habitual reverence for the Sabbath, yet without that attention to its religious duies which Christianity requires I resolve henceforth—(1) To rise early and in order to do that, to go to sleep early on Saturday. (2) To examine the tenor of my life, and particularly the last week; and to mark my advances in religion, or recessions from it. (3) To read the Scriptures methodically with such helps as are at hand. (4) To go to church twice. (5) To read books of divinity, either speculative or practical. (6) To instruct my family. (7) To wear off by meditation and worldly soil contracted in the week.

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'doless.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pains disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me." . . . If Cardui does not help YOU, consult a physician.

Odorless, Tasteless Refrigeration!

Odorless . . . because the constantly changing air freshens the interior of the modern ice refrigerator, thus removing strong odors. This air-conditioning process makes it possible to place, in open vessels, butter or milk, in the same storage space with onions, cabbage, or other foods with a distinctive odor. The air-washing effect of the melting ice carries all odors out of your refrigerator. Each food retains its own individual flavor. Thirty Million Miles of Ford Economy

MORE MILES. Faster miles. Greater economy . . . that is the story of the Ford V-8. There are conclusive figures from owners to show that it is the most economical Ford car ever built.

A particularly interesting and complete report of costs comes from a national fleet owner who has owned 854 Ford cars which have run more than thirty million miles in business use.

175 were Model T Fords which were run 5,017,075 miles. 599 were Model A Ford cars which were run 24,041,632 miles. 80 are Ford V-8 cars which have been run 2,982,886 miles.

This owner's cost records show that Ford V-8 cars cost 12% less to operate than the Model A Fords and 31% less than the Model T Fords. And they covered more miles per month! The monthly average for the Model T Fords was 1509 miles. . . . For the Model A Fords, 1866 miles. . . . And 2571 miles for the Ford V-8.

Each year the Ford car gives you more in value and performance and costs you less to operate.

Keep Your Money By You.

Trading at home is a little subject that is worthy of the attention of every buyer of this county, just the same.

The material prosperity of every inhabitant depends upon the gross amount of money that stays in circulation locally. When you take your spending money out of this great pool you are certain to lower the level some. When hundreds of others follow your lead the effect upon local business is serious.

We try to be reasonable in advocating home trading. It is a problem that requires the careful co-operation of merchants as well as buyers. Both must do their part in the fight to keep money at home.

Work Together Here.

The Herald again urges its readers to be ever alert in cooperating for the progress of the entire community. Joint action, harmoniously proceeding, can work untold wonders with any town or country.

As has been said before the greatest feature that lies before Cameron is the development of a good town in which to live, a good locale for children, a sturdy defense for the moral influences that govern human living.

Let us not become so engrossed with commercial and industrial ambitions that we lose sight of the great purposes of community life. That we desire a bigger, more prosperous Cameron is natural but along with the ambition for greatness should go a determination for right living.

Schools Out.

Vacation is near for hundreds of school children, college students, and teachers. After a strenuous session of work a little period of rest and recuperation is deserved and appreciated by all.

It's a pity that everywhere in life's work, vacations couldn't be arranged, most of them like the teacher's with twelve month's pay. Many men and women grind from start to finish of an earthly career and stop at the final heartbeat.

Sooner or later in the progress of the world more leisure will be available for the working men and women in every sphere of life. What will be done with the space time? Are we teaching ourselves to enjoy leisure in a healthful and helpful way?

In the meantime, here's luck and good enjoyment to those fortunate enough to have a period of relaxation and recuperation. May the summer vacation be enjoyed and may the next year's work be better than ever before.

Newspapers Render Service.

Few people stop to think that newspapers all over the United States, render many public services without compensation of any direct kind. The matter is excellently illustrated by the ready acquiescence of campaign managers in the payment to radio stations of fixed charges for broadcasting programs.

Newspapers devote untold space to political events. Often, they jeopardize their existence in political tactics, necessary in the opinion of the editor for reasons of public welfare. The political parties seldom figure that the widespread publicity by the press of the nation is necessary to the proper functioning of the government itself.

Of course, the answer is that the press receives public advantages, in the mails, etc. This is true to some extent but the government has absolute control of radio for the public welfare and gives radio licenses, of great value, to certain stations in preference to other stations, for absolutely nothing. Moreover the law protects the stations thus favored by driving out competition.

We would not be misunderstood. We do not advocate that newspapers cut out political news. We do not suggest that they cease political partisanship. We merely point out the facts stated above in order that some of the public, at least, may appreciate that most newspapers render distinct public service without compensation.

Soviet Moves Along.

The world has seen somewhat amazed lately to hear that Soviet Russia has 3,600 fighting airplanes and the same number of tanks for the Red Army.

The cold fact is that the Bolsheviki, so called, have concentrated their attention and man power upon the task of self preservation, because it was necessary if the government was to survive.

With due regard to the abhorrence of the world at some of the brutalities with which the Soviet has eradicated internal enemies th etest of the government in Russia is simple. Does it give the average Russian citizen a better opportunity for an improved existence? If it does, Soviet Russia is destined to be a mighty power in the world and there is no way to rub out the fact.

Rural Electrification.

Rural electrification should mean much to the farmers of Milam county and they should keep themselves informed as to the prospect of such development here.

While the set up for rural electrification has been outlined upon a national scale we imagine that it would be good for those interested in securing electrity on their farms to make their wants and desires known.

Worthwhile.

There are some people in Milam county who appreciate to the fullest extent the worth of the Boy Scout movement. There are others who, because they know nothing about it, simply pass it by as a boy's camping and fishing club.

If the people who are this ignorant will take the trouble to secure what is known as the Boy's Handbook they will soon learn that their judgment is entirely unwarranted, and that the movement possesses vast educational possibilities.

Old Age Security Necessary.

Insurance companies for years have been pointing out that four men out of five reaching the age of 65 years are dependent upon charity, either from his relatives or from the public.

The fact is not new but the effort to secure some form of security for persons, men and women, reaching this age has reached a promising stage. We are unqualifiedly behind the proposal that citizens of this country who have given their best, deserve a better prospect than a one to five shot for a pleasant old age, at least so far as the necessities of life are concerned.

Of course, there are, in every community, individuals who deserve to be beggars when they reach 65. In fact, they are beggars all along the road of life. It is impossible, however, for us to concur in the belief that eighty per cent of all Americans are so worthless and so lazy, or such fools that, at 65 they deserve to be dependent upon others for the common necessities of life.

The sober fact is that the average American faces the poorhouse if he is unlucky enough to live to be 65 years old. Regardless of how hard he has worked the figures show that is the fate ahead of four fifths of our population. Whether the charity comes from relatives or from the public is beside the point, so far as the recipient is concerned.

More Self-Defense.

Italy, it appears, is about to follow the Japanese example and wage a desperate war of "self-defense" against Abyssinia.

Mussolini warns Europe that it has nothing to do with the affairs between the two nations and both sides get ready for the fighting, which observers expect will begin in the next few months.

We confess much ignorance about the trouble between these powers. However, it seems to us that large and powerful nations must treat smaller and weaker nations with fairness and equality if they wish to promote world peace.

Farmers Amaze Washington.

The nation's capital was amazed last week when nearly five thousand farmers, from a score or more states flocked into Washington to express approval of the AAA and to give form to a spirit of appreciation.

Washington has had many gatherings, such as the bonus army, the big business conclaves and other meetings, intent upon taking the hide off some proposition or official but rarely has it seen a sight to equal that of these farmers, in unofficial concentration, praising the record.

Some mystery attached to the simultaneous eruption of tillers of the soil in widely scattered areas. Political observers thought that maybe AAA officials in the counties "suggested" the visit but anything like official support was vigorously denied. That the peaceful invasion astonished experienced politicians goes without saying and the thought readily suggests itself that this trek may not be without vast portent in welding agriculture into a solid unit to vote for agricultural benefit as the farmers view the questions of the day.

Secretary Wallace, according to the Associated Press, appeared and touched off a "wild demonstration." This former Republican, now secretary of agriculture, urged farmers to keep their minds flexible, saying that no program is the "only farm program" and attacked industry for wanting its tariffs while at the same time opposing farm benefits.

Clifford Day of Texas is credited with starting the movement but South Dakota farmers, who reached the capital at the same time, said they had never heard of him until their own plan was complete. Sam Lassen, talking for them, gave the Big Business group something to think about, saying "when we saw that the United States Chamber of Commerce decided the processing tax was retarding recovery we knew it was time for us to speak up." He also declared that "if industry will heave over the tariff and sell its product in a highly competitive market, we'll be ready to let go the processing tax."

Any way you look at it the farmers convocation was striking notice to the country that agriculture is about ready to speak for itself politically and that it is about ready to fight for its rights in a country where the tiller of the soil has been progressively ignored until the whole industry of farming was about to go bankrupt and stay bankrupt.

Miss Strickland had been teaching school in the Texhoma school in Oklahoma the past year. She had previously taught in the Collinsville school in charge of public school music. She specialized in Glee Club, operetta and quartette work in the Collinsville schools and in Texhoma. In music school she was the pupil of Nona Lyton and Ruth Mitchell and was an S .I. A. member. Her charm and cultured life has brought to her in lasting endearment many friends whose best wishes go with her to the new home she will grace in Cameron.

Ray N. Duckworth is a native Texan, born at Caldwell in Burleson county and educated in Texas schools. For several years he has held the position of educational director of the First Baptist church in Cameron. Prior to his service here he spent some time in Oklahoma in his work. His contribution to the success of the church here has been large. In music he has brought the church a revelation of influence. Specially trained, he has charge of the finance of the church and in other ways has found a place of large service in the church.

Mr. Duckworth holds the esteem of the business world of Cameron and his work here has been an impressive contribution to good citizenship. JUST A TRUNKFUL!

THREE smiling young stowaways demonstrate the ample space available for luggage, golf clubs or trophies of a shopping expedition, found in the trunk compartment of the new Ford V-8 Touring Sedans, two of the new de luxe types recently announced by the Ford Motor Company. The trunk compartment —with 13 cubic feet of space—is an inherent part of the design of the Tudor and Fordor Touring Sedan body types. All the space is used for luggage, the spare tire being carried conventionally at the rear, while an inner compartment under the floor provides space for tools. The trunk compartments may be locked with the same key that fits the tire lock. The new touring sedans were designed to provide ample luggage carrying facilities for families doing extensive traveling who wish to utilize the car interior for passengers. They have proved thus far to be among the most popular Ford body types.

The custom of swamping the members of Congress and the President with telegrams to indicate popular interest in certain measures has been a boon to the telegraph companies. Frequently more than 100,000 telegrams a day have been received in Washington as a result of investigation on the part of those seeking to influence developments.

INTRODUCING New Herald READERS

Hundreds Subscribe In Big Trend to Pioneer Journal

On the reader list for the Cameron box goes the name of Dr. William R. Newton, Jr., who becomes a reader of the Herald. He was recently married to Miss Ruth Nichol in Houston. They have returned to their home in Cameron and are now living in the M. N. Kilian home in the Green addition. He has offices in the First National Bank Building, recently having begun the practice of medicine in Cameron. The publishers are happy to have him numbered among the many readers in Cameron.

John Kennon of Maysfield is a new Herald reader. Mr. Kennon is among the number who were due to be introduced in this column two weeks ago. He was reared in this section. On his farm at Maysfield he produces good butter and has made a success of this business. The Kennon family has been prominent in this county for many years. Col. Richard Kennon was at one time editor and publisher of the Reporter at Rockdale and for several years has been in Cisco egaged in the publishing business.

Ray Woods, prominent land owener and stock farmer of Milano, has been a reader of the Herald for a number of years an dis among the number who have renewed again for another year. Mr. Woods was born and reared in that community and is well known in Cameron. His father, who died recently, was one of the pioneer settlers in Milam county. The publishers are glad to have him numbered again among the many who read the Herald in Milano.

A new reader on Route 1 out of Buckholts in the Sharpe section is F. G. Wolle who received the first copy of the Herald last week. Mr. Wells who was born and reared in that section and has selected the Herald to read for a year. The publishers are glad to have him numbered among the many who read this pioneer newspaper in that section of the county. He will find many things of interest in these columns during the next twelve months.

Roy Storrs who lives on his farm near Milano, is among the large number of old readers who have renewed their Herald this week. Mr. Storrs has been a reader of the Herald for a number of years and has in times past contributed to these columns. The publishers are glad to have him numbered again among the many who read the Herald in that section. He was formerly a business man in Cameron.

Back to the subscription lists of the Herald comes to Bill Parma well known Cameron business man who chooses to read this old reliable newspaper. Mr. Parma is a native citizen of Cameron and finds in the Herald each week many things of in- and he believes the paper is the biggest bargain of the age. The publishers are happy to have Mr. Parma again numbered among the thousands who read the Herald.

Mrs. E. Fisher of Gause is a new reader of the Herald, her name having been recently added to the reader list by her daughter, Mrs. A. E. Matula of Cameron. Mrs. Fisher has been a resident of this county for many years and will find many things of interest about her friends and neighbors each week in the columns of the Herald. The publishers are glad to welcome her to the reader list in the Gause section.

Giles A. McDermott, large planter and land owner, is among the many Herald readers this week. Mr. McDermott enjoys the distinction of living in the city and receiving his mail on Route 4. His home is located on the Marlow road near the Green addition to the city. In Little River bottom northeast of the city Mr. McDermott owns a large body of farm land. He engages in diversified farming and is interested in stock raising. He believes the best possible plan now is for land owners to stock their farms with good livestock, especially horses and mules, since there is a scarcity of these needed animals in the farming section. The publishers are glad to have Mr. McDermott numbered among the great family of readers.

Clark Kelly of Cameron is among the many old readers to renew again for another year. Mr. Kelley has been a resident of Milam County for a number of years. He owns the Kelly Nursery at Cameron and enjoys a good business. In recent months he has established his nursery on the new highway leading into the city from Ben Arnold. The plat of ground is one of the most attractive enterprises in Texas and is an institution the people should patronize liberally. In the course of time it will be one of the most valuable nursery properties in Texas.

Walter Schiller who lives at Brenham, is a new Herald reader and his introduction to the family of readers has been delayed for several weeks due to lack of space in these columns. Mr. Schiller is well known here and will find many things of interest in the columns of the Herald during the coming year and the publishers thank him for his selection of the Herald, the outstanding Texas weekly newspaper.

Rudolph Stecker who lives on Route 3 out of Cameron has been a reader of the Herald for many years. This week he is among the many who have taken opportunity to renew for another year and for the next twelve months this old newspaper that has served the people of the county for 75 years will go forward to his address.

Louisa's Letter

DAUGHTER WORRIES MOTHER BY LATE HOURS

Dear Girls:

One of our readers is very much concerned over her high school daughter's late hours. Here is an excerp from her letter:

"Katheryn goes out to parties and dances and comes in at all hours of the night. I understand that the girls and boys leave the party and ride all over the country whenever they wish. Don't you think that youngsters of that age should have chaperons and that their hostess should be responsible for them when they are invited to her home?"

I don't wonder that this mother is worried. Children of this age most certainly should not be allowed to roam all over the countryside throughout the night.

There is no one, more than I, who appreciates a young person's right to have pleasure and fun, and it is a narrow minded parent, indeed, who deprives her child of these privileges when she was young. But I most certainly do not think that young people should be turned loose to do exactly as they choose.

One community, to my knowledge, has gone to a long way towards solving this question. They have a school dance or party each week. After a certain hour the doors are closed and for two reasons. First to keep out undesirables, and second to discourage petting. No couple is allowed to come back to the dance if they leave, and their parents are notified if they leave. Another rule is that if any boy ever comes to the dance having liquor he is barred from future dances.

Strange as it may seem, all of the children are delighted over these dances. The music is good, the floor splendid, and the chaperonage excellent. They have a certain hour to stop and the mothers know exactly when to expect their children home.

The parents declare that since these parties have become the vogue that their girls and boys behave much better when they happen to be invited out to private homes. They have just got in the habit of being conventional and keep it up without much effort.

This plan with perhaps a co-operative plan of mothers which I discussed some weeks ago, seems about the most feasible way to cotrol onr children's "goings and comings."

Yours,
LOUISA.

PROHIBITION REPEAL

Why should Texas not abolish its Dry Amendment and Dean Law? For some fifteen years preceding the Roosevelt administration prohibition never prohibited in a single one of the forty-eight states. All have lived through a huge calamity instead of a noble experiment. Drinking and eating constitute one of the most primitive instincts of man. He cannot live without them. As long as men have been on the earth they have used intoxicants. They will continue to do so—legally if possible but no less if illegally. Prohibition seeks to make folks good by law or moral by fiat. It seeks to reform one's personal habits by coercion. Such attempts by governments have proved futile all down through time.

Prohibition has always been unintelligent, impossible to enforce, costly, and ever so anti-social. If a bare fifty per cent of the people want a prohibition law enforced only futility results. The Administration deserves the utmost praise for having the courage and the sense to abolish Prohibition. It was foisted upon this unsuspecting nation by powerfully organized bigots or reformers during war frenzy when people's minds were unbalanced. The country was voted dry while men's minds were poisoned by a fearful war psychology. Even in a madhouse nation a man ought to have some freedom. There ought to be some things he could choose for himself. The prohibitionist or witch burning crowd seek to take all the pleasure out of life. Why not outlaw tabacco, coffee, cocoa, iced drinks, Adlerika, Krushen Salts, or white flour biscuits? It is debatable whether whiskey used moderately is more injurious than these. There are literally hundreds of concoctions all worthless from a standpoint of health sold in drug and department stores. Many others contain poison and are positively injurious to health. Why not outlaw all these for the common good? Even if alcohol is injurious, some people may want to take a chance on their constitution in doing something they want to do which gives joy.

The question of prohibition is one of the philosophy of government. Statistics to prove whether alcohol makes people happier or unhappier, richer or poorer, better or worse are perfectly worthless. We have always been intolerant, especially ignorant men, because no one is so sure of their position as ignorant persons. As everybody with a speck of brains knows Prohibition deluged this nation with a flood of sorry, poison, rotten moonshine whiskey. Many deaths were caused and many more wrecked their health because a decent drink for a time could not be had except by the rich. It made this a nation of law violators. It created disrespect for other laws. Our jails and prisons were filled with armies of men, convicted as criminals under as crazy a law as was ever conceived in the brain of man.

The history of this strange world teaches some that wherever there is sufficient demand for anything there will always be a supply. Prohibitionists today are the lineal descendents of the early day witch burners—both tarred with the same brush of ignorance and intolerance. These prohibitionist-minded would not have you enjoy an auto ride or see a theater or buy your sweetheart a milk chocolate on Sunday or take her to a lovely dance any time. About all one could safely do on Sunday would be to go to church or a funeral and then back home and then to bed. Even a baby's smile on the Sabbath would be suspected of sin. Too many folks confuse joy with sin. There is simply no limit to what the prohibitionist-minded will do if they get the power. Even the writer, whose religion is to do good would be hanged, shot at sun-rise or electrocuted.

Most people violate some laws and especially the Prohibition law, still lingering on the statute books of this state. Texas ought to wipe out its infamous Prohibition Amendment on August 24. She ought to work in closest cooperation with the National Administration, fall in line with progress, and return to Enlightenment, Tolerance, Freedom and Decency. If Prohibition is repealed on August 24, and doubtless it will be, the deep strong, eternal protest from those who love freedom, from those who govern themselves, from those who are afraid of the tyranny and the superstition that have produced this kind of law in the past, will have triumphed. No greater blessing could come to this great southern commonwealth than the legalization of all intoxicating beverages. Let's all pull for Prohibition Repeal. You never see anybody stop drinking because of the law. I have known them to start but never kown them to stop.

SHORT COURSE PLANS ARE MADE AT COLLEGE

"Every phase of agricultural operation from house to field is included in the program for the twenty-sixth annual Farmers' Short Course to be held at A. & M. College from July 28 to August 2," says Roy W. Snyder, chairman of the Short Course committee.

"What's more, every subject is tied up definitely with the theme—the Changing Country Life," he added. "The AAA, through its adjustment programs; the Federal Housing Administration, through its encouragement of building and improvement; the work of soil erosion control, are all represented."

Several programs are arranged around the subject of housing. There will probably be one showing some of the details of building and repairing, a program on house planning from the artistic standpoint, and something on storage for the whole farm home. There will also be exhibits showing water systems.

For making the home more attractive, plans have been made for special programs on home beautification such as control of rose diseases and insects, and soil management. This follows the program on rose propagation given in 1934.

Special demonstration courses in syrup, fruit juice, cheese, and mattress making, the potting of plants, and the making of purses and moccasins have been planned in which individuals take an active part instead of listening to lectures.

A program on wild game conservation and the place of wild fowls on Texas farms and ranches has been scheduled. Poultry products come in their share of attention with a demonstration on scoring poultry production by Miss Zetha McInnis, home industries specialist.

According to the new plan being tried this year, each program has been assigned a certain day. On Monday, the day will be devoted to hogs; on Tuesday, sheep; Wednesday, beef cattle; Thursday, work stock; and on Friday this special meeting on wild game preservation.

Since AAA discussions have been taking place all over the country, the Short Course commiftee has planned discussion groups on each community. These discussions will be given on the same days that the production-program on a particular commodity is given.

Friday morning has been set for the wardrobe contest in which the women will model the dresses they have made by foundation patters. One whole afternoon program will be devoted to the dyeing and cleaning of fine fabrics, and other programs will be given over to home improvement, recreation and other subjects.

A banquet has been planned honoring county winners in the bed room improvement contest. At this banquet the State winners in bedroom improvement will be announced.

A special night program for the boys and girls has been planned to the 100 most outstanding club boys when gold star pins will be awarded and the 100 most outstanding club girls of the state. These boys and girls will be entertained Wednesday night, July 31, at a banquet in their honor.

In addition to the regular short course committee, special conferences are being planned by the Texas Home Demonstration Association; the Bee Keepers' Association; the Rural Pastors and Laymen's Association; the Registered Certified Seed Breeders' Association of Texas; the Texas Agricultural Writers' Conference; the Agricultural Workers' Association; and the Superintendents of Rural Schools.

Again The Herald Leads

Beginning with this issue The Herald comes to its readers a day ahead of the old schedule. This new policy greatly improves the service of The Herald and offers to advertisers an ON TIME medium to circulate their week end merchandising advantages.

In Cameron where the largest city circulation occurs, The Herald goes to its readers Thursday morning. In the rural sections and in other towns The Herald will circulate on Thurhday afternoon and early Friday morning. Co-operation of advertisers is asked. No copy will be taken after Wednesday noon.

Any Cameron newspaper whose publication date is Thursday and is delayed until Friday, is worthless to advertisers for week-end merchandising.

The first concern of any publication is to its readers. The Herald, a Thursday newspaper, will go to its readers on Thursday.

News matter for publication should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon and all advertising copy must reach The Herald by Wednesday noon to insure publication that week.

Court Here Raises Objection To Auto Licensing Elsewhere

Registration by residents of Milam County of vehicles in another county, was described by members of the Commissioners' Court Thursday as a violation of the law and is deplorable.

The court did not vote to take action in the matter, but discussed the failure of some owners who live in remote sections to register their cars and trucks legally at the county seat as provided by law.

Motor vehicles thus registered deprive the county of much needed road funds, it was pointed out. It was said that in most cases cars registered elsewhere because of convenience to the residents of the owner.
